

Everybody is Welcome Here

Secondary Disability Equality in Practice

Photo Carol Reyes-Manzo

“Frying this morning. We are sixth formers – with and without learning difficulties – learning vocational skills.”

DID YOU KNOW? Only 13% of Disabled People with a learning difficulty ever have a job.

Everybody is Welcome Here

Secondary Disability Equality in Practice

“Peer Support is what we like best.”

DID YOU KNOW? Disabled Students complain most about bullying and being isolated from non-disabled peers.

Everybody is Welcome Here

Secondary Disability Equality in Practice

“Reach for the sky with the right support.”

DID YOU KNOW? All schools cannot treat Disabled Students less favourably than non-disabled students, in education and school activities.

Disability Equality in Education would like to thank: Awards for All for the money for this project; the pupils and staff of the following secondary schools for their help: The Angmering School, Bristol Academy, George Green's, Langdon, Lister and South Camden Community Schools; and Caroline Grimshaw for the poster design.

Supported by
The National Lottery
through Awards for All

Everybody is Welcome Here

Secondary Disability Equality in Practice

“Not being able to see doesn’t stop me joining in.”

DID YOU KNOW? Disabled Students are entitled to reasonable adjustments, so they can take part in all aspects of education and school activities.

Disability Equality in Education would like to thank: Awards for All for the money for this project; the pupils and staff of the following secondary schools for their help: The Angmering School, Bristol Academy, George Green's, Langdon, Lister and South Camden Community Schools; and Caroline Grimshaw for the poster design.

Supported by
The National Lottery
through Awards for All

Everybody is Welcome Here

Secondary Disability Equality in Practice

Photo Carol Reyes-Manzo

“Everybody is included in Drama.”

DID YOU KNOW? All teachers are under a duty to prepare for and teach all students in their class register.

Everybody is Welcome Here

Secondary Disability Equality in Practice

Photo May Rose Storey

“It’s all a matter
of attitude.”

DID YOU KNOW? Schools with positive attitudes include everyone.
Disabled People are successful in all areas of life.

Disability Equality in Education would like to thank: Awards for All for the money for this project; the pupils and staff of the following secondary schools for their help: The Angmering School, Bristol Academy, George Green's, Langdon, Lister and South Camden Community Schools; and Caroline Grimshaw for the poster design.

Supported by
The National Lottery
through Awards for All

Everybody is Welcome Here

Secondary Disability Equality in Practice

“Friends are the most important thing at school.”

DID YOU KNOW? Over 60% of Disabled Pupils report bullying, one third on a daily basis.